MAMAVA'S 500th LACTATION SUITE HAS NOW ARRIVED AT GATE A4, HOLLYWOOD BURBANK AIRPORT

BURBANK, Calif., August 13, 2018 – The Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport Authority, in partnership with Lamar Alliance Airport Advertising, has installed at Hollywood Burbank Airport the first of two lactation suites for nursing mothers. This suite is located in Terminal A, across from Gate A4, and was the 500th lactation suite delivered by Mamava, a Vermont-based company that produces private, freestanding lactation suites for nursing mothers. The second lactation suite is scheduled to be installed next month in Terminal B, across from Gate B4.

The lactation suite is a self-contained, mobile pod with the following features: a bench; side table for pump placement; two interior outlets with USB ports for plugging in breast pumps and charging devices; 60-inch turn around space, mirror, and grab bars for ADA compatibility; motion-activated interior lighting; ceiling vents; and a multi-functional mechanical SmartLock with BlueTooth, allowing access via the Mamava app. Each unit stands 9 feet 5 inches wide, 5 feet 4 inches deep and 7 feet 3 inches high, and weighs 900 pounds.

“We are so pleased that our 500th Mamava is being placed at Hollywood Burbank Airport,” says Mamava CEO and Co-Founder Sascha Mayer. “Women who are nursing and travel for work have an incredibly difficult time on the road. Our first suite was installed at an airport and now [so is] our 500th, a full circle of support for traveling mothers.”
