HOLLYWOOD BURBANK AIRPORT REOPENS TERMINAL B FOR PASSENGER SERVICES STARTING JULY 2, 2020

BURBANK, Calif., June 29, 2020 — After temporarily closing Terminal B operations on April 10, due to reduced passenger traffic related to COVID-19, Hollywood Burbank Airport (BUR) will reopen Terminal B on Thursday, July 2.

All departing and arriving flights on Alaska and United, their ticket counter and baggage services, as well as Transportation Security Administration (TSA) security screenings, will resume from Terminal B.

Additionally:

- Spirit Airlines ticket counters will remain in Terminal A, but passengers will proceed to Terminal B for TSA security screening, boarding aircraft, and baggage services.
- American and Southwest will continue to operate in Terminal A as normal.
- Delta and JetBlue services are temporarily suspended until further notice.

We will continue to make modifications to how we do business when necessary, upholding that BUR continues to operate safely, asking everyone to wear a face covering in public spaces as ordered by State of California, practice social distancing, hand washing, and will continue to disinfect frequently touched surfaces daily.
